

A note about Sargassum

Mexico and all over the Caribbean have been experiencing a natural occurrence called Sargassum, or what some would call sea weed. This is something that has been more frequent in recent years and is hit or miss. There is no way to guarantee you won't see this on the beach, and it can honestly sometimes be quite bad. We've been trying to warn our clients that this can happen, just so you're aware. Hopefully, you won't have any issues during your trip!

Unfortunately, this is a product of nature and can't be guaranteed to not affect your vacation.

The resorts and governments are doing their best to keep the beaches clean and beautiful, but each day can be different. This does sometimes affect snorkeling trips and other water activities, but if you stay flexible with your plans, you'll still enjoy your vacation!
